I find that the credible testimony and information submitted at the hearing establishes by clear and convincing evidence a preport derance of the evidence: Defendant is charged with felon in possession of a firearm. He did not contest detention, but reserved the right to do so in the future which was granted. Defendant's criminal history is of recent significance since he was convicted in February 2007 of carrying a and was placed on intense probation which was to begin in May 2007. Defendant has not reported to state probation and considered absconded for which a warrant was issued on June 25, 2007. this conduct strongly indicates a failure to abide by court orders, noncompliance and not conducive to supervision.

Part III—Directions Regarding Detention

The defendant is committed to the custody of the Attorney General or his designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver the defendant to the United States marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with a court proceeding.
